

Guatemala

October 2014

Dear Friends,

As we have spent the last few weeks traveling through the North Eastern United States, we have been overwhelmed by the greatness of God and the beauty of his creation, as displayed by all the breathtaking colors of fall. How amazing is His handiwork!

It has been such a joy and an encouragement to have the opportunity to present in new and supporting churches. A couple of churches have promised support and another has committed to give toward our moving costs. This is very exciting news and an incredible blessing which gets us another step closer to meeting the needs that are essential to getting us to Guatemala! Thank you all who have given so far. Please continue to be in prayer that we will receive all the additional funds that are needed. As a reminder: we need assistance in two areas, shipping costs and language school. The cost for our move is $8,250. The total cost for Joanna and I to attend a year of school will be $18,000. Please pray that we can raise these costs before leaving in January.

On November 5th, Kamden will be having surgery at the Arkansas Children's Hospital in Little Rock, AR. It will be an outpatient procedure to correct a hydrocele. The doctors have assured us that this is an easy procedure. Please be in prayer for the surgery and our travels to and from the hospital.
